Parusso Barolo 2008: "The 2008 Barolo wafts from the glass with freshly cut flowers, red berries, mint and licorice. This weightless, gracious Barolo impresses for its total class and elegance. It is an overachieving, superb entry-level wine from Marco Parusso." – Antonio Galloni, Wine Advocate

Parusso Barolo Bussia 2008: "The 2008 Barolo Bussia is striking. Layers of super-ripe dark fruit, violets, minerals, menthol and spices flow from the glass. The Bussia is deep, textured and dazzling. Spiced, mentholated notes develop in the glass, lending a distinctly balsamic air to the Bussia. The 2008 boasts superb depth through to the dazzling finish." – Antonio Galloni, Wine Advocate

Parusso Barolo Bussia 2001: "The 2001 Barolo Bussia is another huge, dramatic wine. It frankly stands heads and shoulders above most other wines in this vintage. Layers of dark fruit caress the palate, followed by hints of spices, menthol, crushed rocks and white truffle. The 2001 is at once sumptuous and yet impossibly young. The full spectrum of contrasts is one of many things that elevates the Bussia to the upper echelon in 2001. This is a stunning bottle." – Antonio Galloni, Wine Advocate

Parusso Barolo Bussia 2010: "The Barolo Bussia is the most polished and silky of the 2010's. The structure of the vintage and the finesse of Bussia meld together in a Barolo that is both graceful, powerful and resonant. Dark red/black fruit, smoke, tobacco, menthol and a host of balsamic-inflected nuances take shape in the glass. The 2010 turns bright, floral and savory in the glass, hinting at a promising future that lies ahead." – Antonio Galloni, Vinous

Parusso Barolo Bussia Selezione 2007: "Some spice, earthy character, with loads of ripe fruit too. Full bodied, with plenty of vanilla and fruit notes. Hazelnut and chocolate undertones. Tannic, yet polished and refined. Wonderful palate. Fabulous structure." – James Suckling

Parusso Barolo Le Coste Mosconi 2008: "Parusso's 2008 Barolo Le Coste Mosconi bursts from the glass with an exotic mélange of raspberries, plums, violets, mocha, espresso and tar. The Le Coste Mosconi is one of the more muscular, fruit-driven wines in the lineup. It shows a little more French oak influence, but that isn't terribly distracting given the style of the wine, as the flavors marry quite well. Layers of fruit build towards a huge, sweeping finish supported by insistent underlying minerality. This broad, sweeping Barolo is flat-out stunning." – Antonio Galloni, Wine Advocate

Parusso Barolo Le Coste Monforte 2010: "This is incredibly floral with rose petal and cherry character. Full body, with a wonderfully integrated tannin and fruity character. Racy and Silky. Thoroughly great wine." Top 50 Barolo 2010, James Suckling

Parusso Barolo Mariondino 2008: "The 2008 Barolo Mariondino is graced with exquisite depth and definition in its dark raspberries, flowers, mint and licorice. Fleshy and radiant, the Mariondino is endowed with considerable finesse and elegance. Freshly cut flowers, mint and sweet spices add complexity and nuance on the delineated finish. The Mariondino is a bead-spinning Barolo." – Antonio Galloni, Wine Advocate

"This Barolo shows so much funky dried-flower and cedar character. It's like going into a humididor, with tobacco and berry character. It's full-bodied, with powerful tannins and a floral, berry and Spanish-cedar aftertaste. With time in the glass, it becomes an incredible wine with such depth and complexity. Decant two or three hours before. Only in magnum." – James Suckling
